

Energy Consultant / Energy Project Manager

sense electra britannia Ltd

Is your energy infectious? Then you've come to the right place!

Our energy service company sense electra britannia Ltd is looking for a London-based, full-time Energy Consultant / Energy Project Manager to start as soon as possible.

We work with a reputable hotel chain and provide our energy solutions to many of their sites, with a view to expanding our services to support many more. We are looking for a candidate who can be the face of our company in the UK, assisting our operations and customers. Travel to our customer sites will therefore be required. We offer a hybrid working model with offices in Greater London, and commission in addition to a fixed salary.

Your tasks:

- 65% Planning, calculation and construction project management of energy supply systems, which include combined heat and power generation and renewable energies
- 20% Development of individual strategies for our customers based on various analyses, including the calculation and preparation of offers
- 10% Analysis of the energy performance of our major customers and subsequent implementation of any measures deemed appropriate/beneficial
- 5% Development of energy supply concepts for heat and electricity for existing buildings, new buildings and neighbourhoods
- Be the frontline contact person for our customers for all energy issues

What you bring:

- Training or degree in the field of energy management/environmental engineering, civil engineering or in a comparable field. Bachelor graduates are welcome; a Master's degree is not necessary
- Applications from career changers are very welcome
- Sound, practical professional experience in the field of energy consulting
- Strong service mind-set and solution-oriented approach to work
- High coordination and organizational skills
- Independent, responsible and team-oriented way of working
- Willingness to travel within the UK
- Class B driver's license
- Fluent in English
- Knowledge of German (B1 and above) is desirable but not essential

What you can expect from us:

- Comprehensive training and opportunities for personal development
- A hybrid working model with offices in the Greater London area
- The ability to combine family time and work through our flexible company policy
- Commission in addition to a fixed salary

About the company:

sense electra britannia Ltd is the UK branch of the sense electra GmbH group, a Berlin-based energy services company with international partners. Our mission is to use limited energy resources more sustainably and efficiently. That is why we specialize in consulting and implementing renewable energy generation systems, especially combined heat and power plants.

As an energy services company, we are always looking for the optimal energy solution for our customers – who come from a wide range of industries – and to offer them professional energy options.

From our location in Berlin, our young, innovative company operates throughout Europe. We founded sense electra GmbH in 2017 as a merger of several companies. One of our partner companies is apollo-on GmbH, a leading service provider on the energy market that has been operating nationwide for over 20 years. Our company has since expanded and in 2021 sense electra britannia Ltd was founded.
